Plumbers Ooaten.
In a one-sided battle on the diamond at Athletic Park yesterday afternoon, the Janesville White Sox trimmed up the Plumbers team 35 to 2. The White Sox hit almost at will and held a continuous running race around the bases. The Plumbers were weak in their work with the stick and in the field and Dalton, who pitched for the Sox had little difficulty in winning his game. Harry George was on the mound for the Plumbers and George Slightam worked behind the bat.

Superstition Just Plain Fear.

But superstition is plain fear with out any cause, and is utterly demoralizing. If a man is afraid to overeat it makes him healthy; if he is afraid of ghosts it makes him a fool. If he is afraid to lie or do a mean act it produces growth and makes him more manly; if he is afraid to be happy or to leave the house in the morning starting off with his left foot instead of his right it stunts his manhood and makes him childish.

MANGLED REMAINS OF MAN THOUGHT TO BE

"HOBBO," ON CUT-OFF

Section Crew Discover Body of Man On Northwestern Tracks Near Fisher's Warehouse This Morning.

Horribly mangled remains of an unidentified man were found about seven o'clock this morning on the tracks of the Northwestern cut-off near the Fisher warehouse, by Section Foreman August Strampe and his crew. Although the man was cut up so badly that identification would be impossible, it is thought that he was a tramp from one of the camps up the river as a bag containing provisions was found near the body.

Mr. Strampe notified the agent at the depot, who phoned for the police. Chief Appleby with the section crew went to the scene of the accident in a single car attached to one of the switch engines and the remains were taken to the Northwestern station and from there to Nelson's undertaking rooms. The head was entirely severed from the trunk, but from the clothes and other marks the body was found to be that of a man of the "idle transient" type, about thirty-five years of age.

It is evident that he had entered the city last night for provisions and that it was in returning to the camp that he was struck by one of the night trains or fell in under the wheels while attempting to steal a ride. It is said that one of the section crews which came to town last evening were of the opinion that the man who had hidden into the city with them. It is not known, nor can it be determined, from which way the train was coming that struck the man. Some of the tramps at the depot were of the opinion that the man must have been dragged beneath the cars and that he was not struck and thrown. The sack which was found with the body, contained five loaves of bread, coffee, potatoes, matches and other supplies, evidently for use at the camp of some of the tramps in the woods north of the spot.

It is thought that if he is a member of any of the gangs of this nature, that he will be missed and that some of them will come to the city in search of their "pal" who failed to come back with their provisions.

FIND JOKER IN LAW
THAT IS ON BOOKS

MAY COST UNITED STATES GOV.
ERNMENT $500,000,000—BIG IN-TERESTS INVOLVED.

ASK PATENT ACT'S REPEAL

Federal Attorneys Decide to Delay
Suits Against Southern Pacific Railroad to Recover Millions of Acres of Mineral Land.

Washington, June 9.—Just as the government is sitting in for the biggest legal game it ever played the discovery is made that it is bound to lose and the Southern Pacific railroad to win $500,000,000 unless the laws of 1891 and 1896 governing the patenting of oil and mineral lands are repealed by congress.

The stakes are a great area of California's richest oil lands. They were granted to the railroad with a clause in the grant expressly excepting all mineral lands save those containing coal and iron.

Washington, June 9.—Suits contemplated by the United States government to recover more than $500,000, 000 worth of oil and mineral lands from the Southern Pacific railroad in California may be abandoned until congress repeals the laws of 1891 and 1896 governing the patenting of these lands.

According to an official of the department of justice, defeat would be the result of any effort to recover the lands by process under the existing law.

This startling turn in the government's contemplated action in the result of the unearthing of a joker in the laws of 1891 and 1896. The joker limits the time in which suit can be brought.

Joker Slipped in Law.

The lands in question were granted to the railroad, with a clause in the grant expressly excepting all mineral lands save those containing coal and iron. Most of these lands were patented to the grantee more than six years ago. The joker in the situation was slipped into the net of 1891 in the very last hours of the session of congress.

The department views this joker as a bar to any proceeding on the part of the government. According to a decision of the United States Supreme court unearthing within the last few days the government cannot annul by legal proceedings a patent of land to a land-grant railroad after six years from the issuance of the patent. Until the laws are repealed the government has not a chance to get back its lands.

Landed Empire is Broad.
The Southern Pacific's landed empire on the Pacific slope ranges from Portland, Ore., southward to Yuma, Ariz., and from Sacramento, Cal., eastward to Salt Lake City. It was composed of land grants made by congress to numerous railroad companies, which have since become merged in the Southern Pacific system, making the Southern Pacific the wealthiest land-holding corporation in the world.

The area of land bestowed upon these railroads and now claimed by the Southern Pacific reaches 26,177,617 acres. Of this land an immense area lies in the California oil belt.

CLEVELAND HAS "ARSON TRUST."

Big Conspiracy to Defraud Insurance Companies is Unearthed.

Cleveland, O., June 9.—An "arson trust" thought by state fire marshals and county authorities to be part of a gigantic conspiracy originating in Chicago to defraud fire insurance companies has been discovered in Cleveland.

Secret indictments have been returned against men alleged to be in the combination by the Cuyahoga county grand jury.

Officers of several states are now busy trying to locate the indicted persons.

Unlike the operation of the Chicago
"arson trust" the men in the conspiracy here worked their scheme by burning jewelry stores. The stock of jewelry used in an Ohio fire where insurance was collected served for the same purpose in Pittsburgh and other cities it is charged.

SENATOR DENIED CHURCH RITES.

Burial Asked by Widow.

Paris, France, June 8.—Mgr. Am-ette, archbishop of Paris, denied the accordance with the burial rites of the Roman Catholic church. It was during Mr. Rouvier's term as premier that the law separating church and state was passed by the French parliament.

CHOKES BABY TO DEATH, FLEES.

Infuriated Boarder Murders Child in Presence of Its Mother.

Philadelphia, June 9.—Infuriated by the cries of the baby of Mrs. Filomena Attala, Pasquale Serrano, a boarder, according to statements made to the police, choked the child to death.
The mother and two other of her children witnessed the act. Serrano disappeared.

Why the Eagle?

"As free as a bird in the air," we say. Now, of all the birds of the air the eagle is king, and, therefore, of all birds he is the freest. (This fact,
coupled with the eagle's independence,
self-reliance and unconquerable courage, caused it to be chosen as the emblem of the youngest and greatest of republics.—New York American.

FRENCH MAID LOSES SUIT; SHOOTS RICH FRISCO MAN

C. Frederick Kohl Fatally Wounded
by Adele Verge, Former Employee of His Wife.

San Francisco, Cal., June 9.—C. Frederick Kohl, a prominent capitalist, was shot and probably fatally wounded by Adele Verge, a French maid, until recently in his wife's employ.

The shooting occurred in the corridor of the Grant building, Seventh and Market streets, and was witnessed by a score of persons. Kohl, who had stepped out of an elevator, stopped at the cigar stand and was in the act of lighting a cigar when the woman walked hurriedly to him. As Kohl turned she pressed a revolver against his body and fired. The bullet entered just above the heart.

Before the woman could fire another shot bystanders grappled with her and wrested the revolver from her.

When confronted with his assailant Kohl said:

"That is the woman who shot me. She is crazy and I forgive her."

Mrs. Verge, when asked why she had shot Kohl, broke down and said she did not know. She is in a hysterical condition and is being closely guarded to prevent self-destruction.

For several months Mrs. Verge has been involved in a lawsuit with the Kohls. Mr. and Mrs. Kohl had the woman charged with insanity and were sued by her for alleged unpaid wages and false imprisonment.

The suit against Kohl, which was filed by Mrs. Verge, was one alleging slander and malicious prosecution. Kohl was made a joint defendant with Frank A. Miller, owner of the Glenwood hotel in Riverdale. Mrs. Verge asked of each defendant $30,000 damages and the trial was held, with a jury, in Judge Gefford's court last Tuesday. On the showing made by the defense the case was nolle prossed.

Confesses to Killing 57.

Berlin, June 9.—Messengers from Kozni say that Alexander Zaryzin, arrested there on a wholesale murder charge, has confessed to having slain 57 persons, including an army officer and his wife in Sebastopol.

The Lengthy Lobbies.

"Why do they call Washington the city of magnificent distances?" "Because," answered the office-seeker, "it is such a long way between what you go after and what you get."

Rubber Trees' Yield of Sap.
Tapped eight feet from the ground a rubber tree 15 inches in diameter yields three pints of sap.

Turkish Proverb.
The devil tempts all other men, but idle men tempt the devil.

The Difference in Speed.
The professor of shorthand in a local business college addressed this unanswerable argument in an address to a new class the other day: "We are told that it took Gray, author of the well-known 'Elegy in a Country Churchyard,' seven years to write that famous poem. If he had known stenography he could have done it in seven minutes. We have graduates who have done that same poem in that length of time."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Process of Building.
From little things men go on to great.—Dutch Proverb.

Human Nature.
Ever remark how many people there are who want you to neglect your own affairs, in order to give them "encouragement?" — Atchison, Kan., Globe.

A Preacher.
Every Christian is called to be a preacher; just as truly as was John the Baptist.—Rev. Dwight E. Marvin, Presbyterian, Brooklyn.

Doing the Best One Can.
Probably the best way to manage home affairs is to be straight ahead doing the best we can, regardless of other folks' opinion.

Reform in Connecticut.
Twenty quarts of milk offered for sale in Connecticut contained ten quarts of water. Connecticut is improving. The classic nutmegs were all wood.

Great Britain's Smallest Tree.
The smallest tree that grows in Great Britain may be seen on the very top of Ben Lomond. It is the dwarf willow, which at maturity reaches a height of only two inches.

Greek Shoes and Sandals.
Greek shoes were peculiar in that they reached to the middle of the legs. They also used sandals.

It Costs No More to Run a 12 inch Electric Desk Fan than to Burn One Electric Light.

Everyone realizes the need of electric fans in the office and home. Many, however, do not know how small the operating cost of a fan is.

Electric Fans cost little either to buy or to operate, will last for a lifetime and so sturdily built as to require practically no attention.

You can run a Ceiling Fan as cheaply as you can burn two electric lights.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 9.—Hundreds of Harvard graduates from all parts of the country gathered in Minneapolis today to renew acquaintances and to join in singing the praises of their alma mater. The occasion is the fifteenth annual meeting of the Associated Harvard Clubs. The members held their annual session this morning at the Radisson Hotel and this afternoon they were taken on automobile rides about the city. Tomorrow will be spent at Lake Minnetonka and in the evening the gathering will close with a banquet in St. Paul. Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard University, is here as the guest of the convention.

Texas Lets up on Corporations.
Austin, Tex., June 9.—Many of the important laws enacted by the last session of the Texas legislature are to come into effect at midnight tonight. Among the new acts are several important amendments designed to lessen the severity of the drastic anti-corporation laws passed several years ago. Included among them is an amendment to the anti-pass law which will permit the railroads, transportation lines, express companies, telephone companies and other public corporations to give free service or service at a reduced rate to practically all state, county and city officers, delegates to conventions and numerous other classes of persons.

Daily Thought.

The sorrow of yesterday is as nothing, that of to-day is bearable, but that of to-morrow is gigantic because indistinct.—Euripides.

The Spinner's Prayer.
"Dear Lord," is the favorite prayer of an Atchison spinner, "make me to spin every time I come to thee with complaints what my married brothers and sisters have to put up with from their children, that I may cease my complaining, and be duly grateful that thou hast seen fit in thy wisdom to make a carefree spinner of me."—Atchison (Kana.) Globe.

The Babies Came, Too.
Babies at home receptions are among the novelties in the way of entertaining, having been introduced into London by Lady Pembroke. Mothers, all of whom had titles, came with their babies, the nurses carrying them into the rooms, where they were handed over to the mothers, who were obliged to hold them themselves for a time at least.

REHBERG'S

Suits at $14.50--A Mighty Unusual Price Making Event

WHEN REHBERG'S, A STORE THAT IS ACCUSTOMED TO DOING BIG things says a certain sale of suits is "the best yet," you've a right to expect a whole lot. And this $14.50 price making event on men's and young men's suits is the best yet. Here's a sale that "outclimaxes" the climax. Superb suits, the kind that such makers as Hirsh-Wickwire, Michaels-Stern and other high-grade tailors built their reputation on. If $14.50 ever bought as much genuine suit value as right now we miss our guess. These suits formerly ranged in value to as high as $20. In fact there are several $20.00 suits among them.

SOME $22.50 AND $25.00 SUITS AT $20.00

Not as many as when we first announced the event, they were too fine to last long, but enough to make choosing easy and pleasant. Every new color, model, fabric and pattern represented, nothing that you could possibly want is missing. A special lot of $22.50 and $25 suits at $20

Suits for Young Men

Young men and youths who aren't as "cheaty" as they might be, who can contain themselves in a smaller model, will find that they can get any style they want, any color they like, any fabric they prefer and an all around value that your money won't secure elsewhere, $10 to $30

New Things In Furnishings

Soft cuff shirts still register high in the favor of the man who dresses well. They ought to, they're fine. We've the largest assortment hereabouts. Newest arrival has soft detachable collar to match, $1.50. At $1.25 you'll get a great shirt here—mercerized fabrics in gray, tan, and white, soft French cuffs.

Underwear? Every really good thing the market affords—athletic or regular styles, union suits or two-piece, 50c to $1.50 for the two-piece, and $1.00 to $2.00 for the unions.

A real thread silk Half Hose, with double heel and toe, at 50c

Bought Your "Straw" Yet?

You men who are still letting soft hats and derbies "show which way the wind blows" when a straw hat ought to be doing it, probably haven't seen our display yet. You couldn't have resisted them. Will it be a Panama? Fine ones, Optimo or Telescope styles, $4 to $5.00

Will it be a sailor? We've sailors in Milan, Sennit and other braids at $2.50 and $3.00. A soft straw with a pencil curl? Milans and Mackinaws, $1.00 and $2.00. Other styles at $1.00 to $3.00.

REHBERG'S SHOES

If $3.00, $3.50, $4.00 appeals to you as a good price to pay for shoes, it certainly will pay you to come here for them. We've made this the biggest and best retail shoe store in this city by giving greater values, more styles, and a larger range of sizes at these prices than you can possibly find at any other store. Right now we're showing new styles not to be found elsewhere—as well as all of the staple favorites always here.

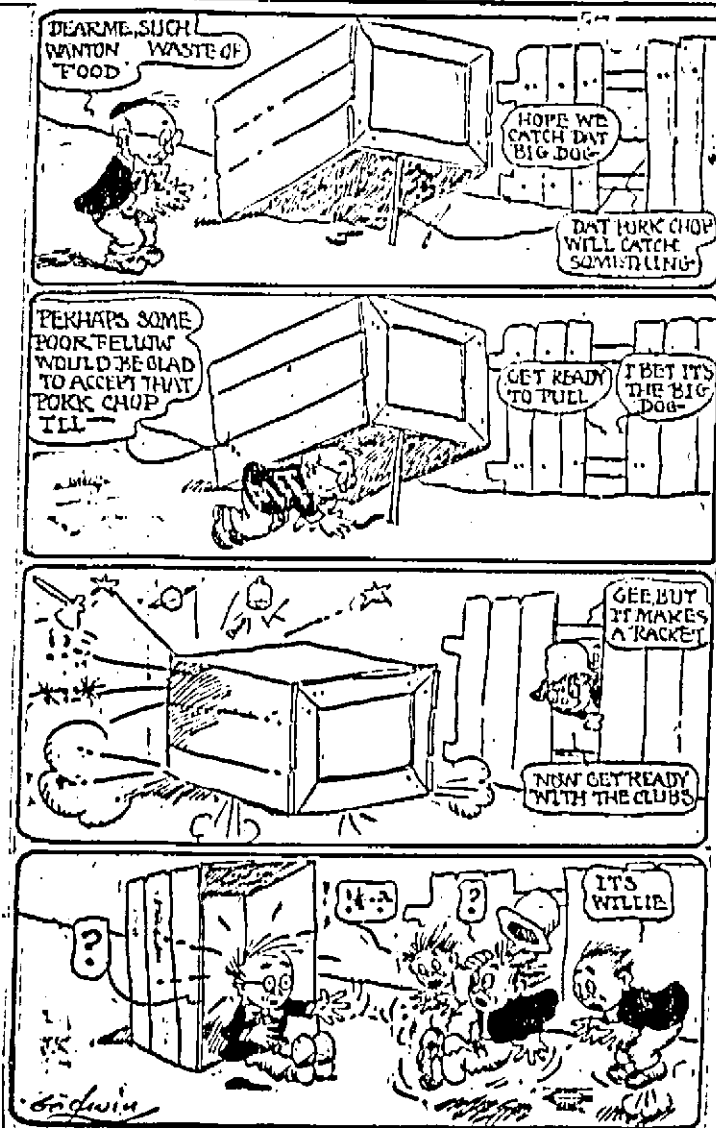

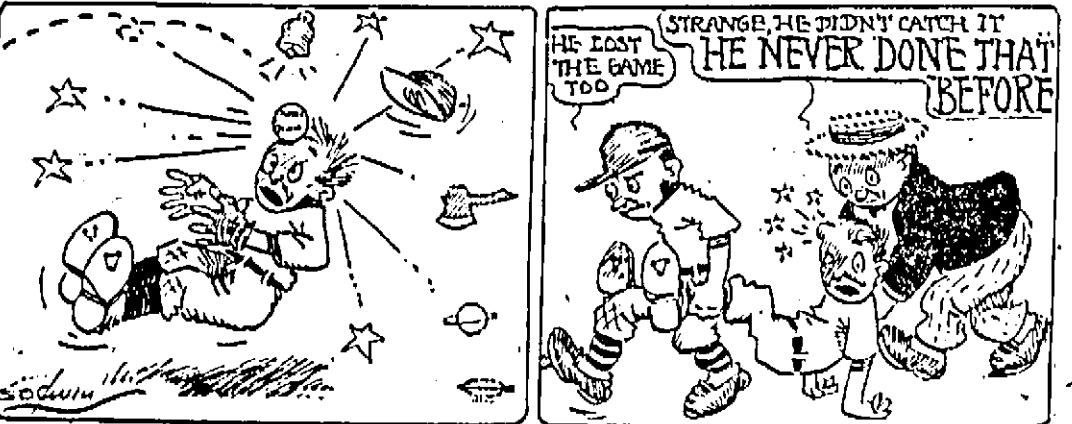

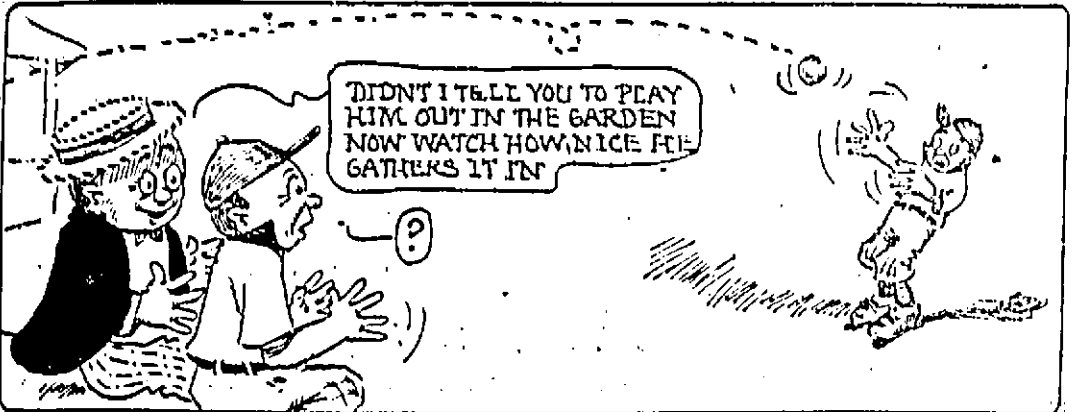

MEN'S—Oxfords, the kind you don't have to put on like a glove—that slip on but don't slip off. Hundreds of pairs, a great number of styles, every new leather, every new shade, $3.00 to $4.50 and $5.00

WOMEN'S—Two-strap satin pumps with silk box bows, all sizes and widths, new shipment, $3.00. ## IS AN INJUSTICE TO THE ENTIRE COUNTY.

LEGISLATURE PLANS TO DO FUNNY THINGS WITH ROCK COUNTY SOON.

RE-APPORTIONMENT

It is said Will Combine It With Walworth For the Senatorial District and Also Divide It Into Two Instead of Three Assembly Districts.

Before that reapportionment committee goes through with Rock County, they promise to do some funny things to the old state district that has long been a republican stronghold. In the first place it is said that it is to be combined with Walworth in the Senatorial district and the next that the three assembly districts are to be consolidated into two.

Years ago Rock and part of Jefferson comprised the twenty-second senatorial district. Later Rock was made a district by itself and now the present legislature figure out that Walworth and Rock would make a good combination. In other words Rock County is liable to lose two seats in the next legislature.

The list of the proposed senatorial districts are as follows:

CHARLIE THE FIRST COMING.

Chimpanzee Is the Greatest Circus Performer in the World.

Charlie the First, a chimpanzee, is one of the star performers with the Barnum and Bailey Greatest Show on Earth. His close resemblance to the human lifts him into a class by himself. All man's divine gifts, with the exception of the power of speech, are possessed by this strange creature. Science says there is a link connecting lower animal creation with that of the human race. Charlie the First proves this theory. Within him is the divine spark of human fire. To such an extent has he developed by contact with man, that he has become a better performer than any man who ever lived.

Charlie the First was born in Africa about ten years ago. Nothing is known of his antecedents. In 1903 a party of scientists came upon him seated beneath a tree eating coconuts. Instead of feeling the animal walked up to them, his arms laden with nuts which he passed around, at the same time making motions which plainly said, "These are for you." The men were amazed, and taking the nuts were about to pass on, when the friendly creature took one of them by the hand and tried to detain him. The party proceeded, however, but had gone but a few miles when the animal overtook them; now carrying a pad crudely woven into a mattress, a club and a coconut shell he used as a cup. For days he marched with the party, sometimes ahead, other times following behind, but more often walking with them. At meal times he brought fruit and nuts from the forest, changing some for what the negro servants carried when he helped them, and from that time on he began to make himself useful. As an experiment the scientists placed the animal with the captain of a small freighter. He became useful from the start. In three days he was carrying burdens and washing the deck. A week later he astonished the men in the galley by putting on an apron. That day he helped wash the dishes.

From this on his progress was rapid. The scheme to let him develop merely by his desire to imitate was a complete success. After eight months the man whose hand he shook in the African thicket, took Charlie the First to London for further development. From this on his history reads like a miracle. Scientists from all over Europe examined him. Even the King of England, the German Emperor and Alfonso of Spain had him brought before them. There was but one opinion: "Here is the exemplification of the Darwinian theory or an accident of nature." Dr. Buchanan, one of the discoverers of the animal, now brings him to America as one of the big features with the Barnum and Bailey circus.

Everything he does proves him more human than animal. He dresses with the use of a full table equipment. He sleeps in a bed. He plays on the piano. He shines his own shoes. He sews on his own buttons. As a performer he excels man. He is an accomplished bareback rider. He is a skillful trapeze artist, a finished juggler, a man walker and a clever juggler. On one of the stages he presents a difficult bicycle act. He originated it himself. Most instinct could not evolve such skill. Any one who rides a bicycle knows it requires judgment and reason to learn. Charlie the First is a greater rider than any man ever seen with a circus. Here then are the proofs that he possesses a divinity of mind far in excess of nature's intent. He will prove the greatest circus attraction ever seen in Janesville, on June 20, when the big show comes.

Easy Money. Veering trotted blithely to business. He had risen before daylight and worked two hours at clearing up the yard about his house. The thought of the pleasant surprise awaiting his wife brought forth a chuckle.

At luncheon Mrs. Veering remarked: "That man did his work remarkably well."

"What man?" gasped Veering. "The man you engaged to clear away the rubbish in the yard. He was just finishing when I came down this morning and gave him a dollar." Metropolis.

PARK IS READY FOR CONTEST ON SUNDAY

Grand Stand and Baseball Grounds At Fair Grounds Have Been Fixed Up For Game With Madison City Team.

Improvements on the grand stand and baseball grounds at the Fair Grounds and everything is in readiness for the game on Sunday between the Janesville team and the Madison City team, in which Brock's men will meet the pick of the Capital City.

The game promises to be a hot one and the fans are looking forward to a good display of sport. The grand stand, which at the opening of the season was badly in need of repairs and acted as only a move, during a rain storm in one of the games, has been fixed up and is in first class condition. A new roof has been put on so that spectators will be safe from a sudden drenching in case a shower comes up. A new entrance is also one of the new features of the park for baseball. The grounds have been put in first class shape for Sunday's game. Yesterday the field was moved and other necessary work done so that some fast playing is looked for. The score books for the season's games which were delayed until repairs had been made at the park, have been completed by the Janesville Printing Company and will be in use for the first time at the contest Sunday.

Scrapped Diamond. The infield on the diamond at Athletic Park was scraped last evening and the sod taken up several feet to the level of the bases in preparation for the games in the Commercial league on Saturday. In the outfield the tall grass has been mowed.

What Folk-Songs Are. One of the finest pleasures in the world is derived from singing. Even savages make an effort to sing by uttering weird notes, as they beat on queer drums and dance around their war fires. In ancient times before there were any pianos, says a writer in St. Nicholas, people sang sometimes to the clapping of their hands, and often to the accompaniment of old-fashioned guitars, violins or harps.

Their songs told of battles, love, harvest time, hunting and other events in their lives. Before men knew how to write and print music songs were preserved by being treasured in the memory of the people. Every country had its own peculiar songs which were passed down from father to son, sometimes through hundreds of years, in more modern times interested people have from time to time printed collections of these songs of the different nations, and nowadays there are many enthusiastic collectors who are printing these songs so that we may all know them. This kind of music is called folk-songs. These include the songs which the "folk" or people sing and treasure in their hearts and memory.

Her Inspiration. The girl who knelt at church altars as if to pray and picked pockets instead must have been reading magazine articles on the "Lives of Pious Commercial Pirates."

VICTIM OF HARD LUCK

WATSON HOLDS 24-HOUR RECORD FOR MISFORTUNE.

Former Pennsylvanian Tells How He Lost a Big Fortune Through a Foolish Pet Goat and a Fond Grandfather.

"Hard luck!" exclaimed Watson. "You fellows don't know what hard luck is. I claim that I hold the 24-hour record for hard luck. When I was a boy I lived in the Pennsylvania oil country, and my grandfather owned a big farm down there. They had never found oil within five or six miles of grandfather's place, but they were gradually edging along in his direction, and we all expected that sooner or later somebody would uncover a gusher there. That would mean a fortune for grandfather, and as I was his only heir I naturally took considerable interest in the matter.

"Well, one day a rich old man came along and made an offer for grandfather's farm. They had struck a good well near by, and everybody had come to the conclusion that grandfather's farm was in the middle of the oil belt. Our friends advised against the acceptance of the first offer, which would have been 20 times as much as the farm would have been worth if no oil had been there, but it was certain that if all were discovered on the farm we could get $50,000, and perhaps $100,000, more than the price mentioned by the first bidder.

"Seeing that grandfather wouldn't sell, the man leased a couple of acres from him and started to put down a test well. It was expected that they would have to drill about a thousand feet to reach the sand in which the oil was located, and when they got down that far not a sign of oil had been found. So they decided to torpedo the thing.

"The scheme was to put a lot of nitroglycerin into the well and blow it up. That often made gushers of what up at first seemed to be dry holes. They brought a large quantity of the explosive stuff to the farm and stored it in a little shed, expecting to blow it up the well the next day. Here's where the hard luck comes in.

"It happened that I had a goat and this goat got into the shed where the explosive was stored. Boy! he rushed in to get the goat out, and grandfather and a crowd of the well drillers saw me. They were horror-stricken. For a moment nobody could move or even speak. Then grandfather offered his farm to any one who would rescue the goat. One of the drillers accepted the offer and entered the shed, where he succeeded in getting the goat by the horns just before he had butted into the can of nitroglycerin.

"He flung the goat out through the open door of the shed and then, catching me in his arms, carried me in to safety to grandfather. The old gentleman insisted on dealing the place over to him then and there. The next day they attempted to torpedo the well, and then it was discovered that the can which was supposed to be full of nitroglycerin contained nothing but lard, and the goat died of the shock it sustained when it was thrown out of the shed. Eventually the well turned out to be a gusher.

The Playground Wave. When Josiah Strong said: "This universal impulse to play is a divine-ly-ordered thing, if God gives the instinct, man ought to provide the playground," he struck the keynote of a wave of feeling that is sweeping over the country in favor of the playgrounds.

Larr Anderson, whose name figured prominently as the possible successor of Dr. David Jayne Hill as Ambassador to Berlin, is looked upon today as the probable successor by Charles P. Bryan as minister to Belgium.

May Have Been Asleep.

The man who cannot remember the text or ought of the sermon is hypnotized or has worked himself into a trance, and sleepiness and inability to tell what the preacher has said must be considered as an indication of a palsy that has passed beyond the control of its possessor or of attention so acute that it concentrates itself on the words and face of the speaker, to the disregard of thought expressed by words.—Christian Advocate.

The Public and Its Papers.

We are sure that it is a delusion to suppose that the public likes a slavish paper—i. e., a paper always terrified that it may offend its readers. If it speaks its real mind, they prefer one which is independent, though, no doubt, they do not like to see their pet theories handled too roughly. Yet even here they will stand a great deal of opposition to their own views if they know that the newspaper is acting sincerely.—London Spectator.

Best Treatment for Bruises.

In the treatment of bruises, water, either hot or cold, is usually efficacious. In some cases where the swelling is great it is well for a time to keep a wet cloth held firmly over the swelling, either with a hand or with a bandage.

MAKE YOUR OWN FLY CHASER

There are on the market a lot of patent fly chasers. Just like most patent stuff, it costs you double money. We have sold different makes from one to two dollars a gallon, yet nothing does better work at any price than this: take one gallon of Cresoda and three gallons of common kerosene, mix as you want it to use, spray or put on with a brush. Keeps off flies, gnats, grubs, is healing, antiseptic, and costs about 45 cents a gallon instead of one dollar or more. Come in, talk to Mr. Pfennig, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, about this or other stock remedies. He can save you half your money. Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and River streets.

Heranger's Mountain of Inspiration. Heranger is best known for his Bacchanalian songs. One night he was at supper with Dumas the elder. The younger Dumas, who was present, was laughing through his college course and at that period was exhibiting those characteristics which unfortunately developed in later life. Noticing that Heranger had drunk only water, he somewhat indiscreetly asked: "Where do you obtain, M. Heranger, all the wine which we find in your songs?"

The poet's reply was: "From the fountain at the corner, my boy, and you would do well to make that the source of your inspiration."

PASTOR SAYS KIND WORDS FOR TONIC

Use In Family of "Tona Vita" Leads Divine to Endorse It.

A letter has recently been received by the physicians at present introducing the new tonic, "Tona Vita," to the Milwaukee public. The letter is from the Rev. Henry Uphoff, residing at 1654 Twenty-fifth street, pastor of the Twenty-fifth Street (Evangelical) church and is as follows: "With pleasure I recommend Tona Vita for nervous conditions. The result that I had in my family by using one and one-half bottles of this tonic entitles and commands me to the above recommendation to my fellow-men."

This letter is the outcome of tests made by some of the clergymen of Milwaukee of the new tonic, and one of the physicians. "We expect to publish them as fast as we receive them, word for word, as they are written, whether of a complimentary nature or otherwise."

"Thousands of men and women in all cities like Milwaukee are suffering with the same run-down, listless, depressed condition, which is produced by over-worked up nerves, an over-worked brain and an over-worked stomach," says the physician who are introducing "Tona Vita." "There is something behind this all, however, continue these physicians, and it is nothing other than the strain of modern city life and an artificial environment. Every day of their lives these people are exceeding nature's limitation and they go carelessly along, neglecting to take time to even realize the serious results until it is too late and debility has set in. In its most damaging form. Nervousness, sleeplessness, imperfect digestion, stomach and bowel troubles, constipation, poor circulation, cold feet, listlessness, loss of energy and ambition and depression are characteristic symptoms of this trouble, which will be quickly and permanently removed by our preparation."

Lee's Rhuibarh Laxative, the assistant preparation is the best family laxative in the world. The natural medicinal qualities of rhuibarh—nature's purest and best laxative, are obtained in this medicine. Lee's Rhuibarh Laxative will not harm the weak, eat constitution and is therefore ideal for children. It is very pleasant to the taste. The Smith Drug Co. has secured the agency in Janesville for these celebrated preparations.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

IMAGINE a big power of electricity stored up somewhere. Imagine a lot of pulleys and motors ready to be moved by that electricity.

And then imagine a transmitter that will not work at all sometimes, and sometimes only feebly, so that most of the time the electricity is useless and the pulleys and motors are idle, or else moved by other stores of electricity.

That's a description of some people. The electricity is their store of personality.

The motor and pulleys are other minds ready to be moved by the electricity.

And the transmitter that doesn't work right is a confused and unattractive manner and way of speaking. Everyone must know such people who suffer daily from the handicap of a bad transmitter.

Just recently my attention has been drawn to a particularly unfortunate case.

She is a young girl of education and refinement. She has, I think, a very good mind. The electricity of personality, you see, is far from lacking. But the transmitter is very, very bad.

In the first place her manner of speech is so hurried and nervous and confused that people often do not understand her. Naturally that produces them against her. People who talk with her sometimes have to guess at half she says, and consequently make mistakes which make them appear and feel awkward. And no one likes to appear awkward.

One is prejudiced against the person who makes one appear awkward, just as one likes the person who helps one to appear interesting and clever.

Furthermore, the confusion which this girl causes apparently reacts to confuse her, and she repeats herself and breaks the thread of her story by hanging a great weight of irrelevant detail upon it. She is a victim of that unfortunate habit of which I have spoken before of stopping in the middle of a would-be interesting account to decide "was it Tuesday or Wednesday?" It must have been Tuesday, because I went to Ruth's on Wednesday. No, that was Thursday. I guess it was Wednesday, after all, or some similarly unimportant and uninteresting detail.

Sometimes when I go about with this girl and hear her bore and repeat people when she might so easily interest and attract them if only the transmitter were better, I could almost weep.

Partly for that wasted store of personality and partly for the suffering she endures because of her unpopularity.

And there are so many like her.

If the parents of this girl would only take her habit of rapid speech in hand, and do all they can to correct it, even employing an elocution teacher to give her proper exercise; if someone who knows her well enough would only talk to her frankly about her way of making interesting things uninteresting—the whole aspect of her life might be changed.

As it happens this girl does not have to make her way in the world, but what a tremendous handicap a poor transmitter is to a man or woman who does have to make a living. It divides their efficiency and their chance of success by at least two and probably four.

How much unhappiness and inefficiency, how many failures, how many tears and how many bruised hearts might be avoided if only families and close friends, instead of letting things drift, would frankly point out their faults to people thus handicapped and help them to overcome them.

Our Girls.

The School Ahead of the Graduate.

A STEADY stream of graduates is pouring out into the world from commencement platforms. They ought to change the face of the world to some extent, when one considers their numbers, their ideals, and their enthusiasms. But for some reason or other they don't. The world receives them, swallows them, and jogs on the same.

Probably one reason they make no more impression than they do is because they have all learned the same things, not only all the graduates for this year, but all the graduates for many years. They have learned Greek roots and various facts about triangles and other information of this character. These facts make very little impression upon the world, for it hasn't much use for them. No life has to take them in hand and teach them some of its lessons. In the school of life which the graduate now enters, he learns that which is of the most use to himself and the world.

The things which the school of life teaches to be of value, the graduate probably has heard little of in the school she is just leaving. They are old-fashioned, time-worn things; and if the graduate did hear of them, she probably gave scant heed, the other things on the roster seemed so much more important. But life hasn't much to say about Greek verbs and theories about triangles; it asks as it always has asked, for initiative, dependability, stick-to-it-iveness, thoroughness, and other such classics.

The graduate, who can translate the spirit of the times into speech or action; who doesn't do what the century behind her has done, but what the century ahead of her needs, is the one who will take the honors in life's school. She may know little of Latin and less of Greek, and the passwords of logic may be a strange tongue in her, but the world will welcome her.

The girl who comes from school with a proper estimate of the value of thoroughness, no matter what work she may take up, is the girl who will enter life's school without "conditions." For this is one of the requirements of the school of life and if it is not learned before entering, it will have to be taken after entrance. It is more essential to success than a knowledge of botany though botany is not to be derided.

So also is stick-to-it-iveness. It takes a graduate sometime a long while to learn in the school of life that she will never get anywhere unless she knows where she is going and sticks to the road.

Dependability is another course not always given in the school the graduate has attended, but which the school of life absolutely insists upon, if honors are to be won.

The graduate has quite as much to learn now that school days are over as she has crammed during the past four years and more. Only, she isn't aware of it. It takes her a little while to discover that she has entered the greatest school of all now, and one that will try her mettle to the utmost. She is no longer sitting in secluded class rooms, filling her head with the lore of books, and getting an education. She is in the school of life, learning its lessons at first hand and building character. And it is in this school that the graduate is really taught the things that make an impression upon the world for its betterment.

NEW CONTEST FOR WOMEN.

Have you thought of what special dish you are going to have on the table Saturday? Have you decided what surprise you are going to give the family when they come to the meal after a hot, thirteenth day spent at the office, or shop, or in the field? If not, hurry it out, and then when you note the result write it down and enter the latest Gazette contest for the best recipe for hot weather.

These are hot days. What with preserving, and plans for preserving, and the other housework to do, you are tired and uncomfortable. It may mean considerable mental effort to figure out some little dish that will please all, but it is worth the bother.

It is certain that many a housewife has hidden away in some cook-book a recipe for just such an emergency. Search it out and put it into practice, and then note the results. The contest would like to have the results of your efforts and has started this new contest, which closes July 1, for that purpose.

Write up your recipe and mail it to the "Feature Editor" of the Gazette and try for one of the following prizes:

First Prize—Pair Silk Stockings.
Second Prize—Set Kitchen Knives.
Third Prize—A Book.

Up to Each Individual.

It is an impossible for a man to be cheated by any one but himself as for a thing to be and not to be at the same time.—Emerson.

Selfishness.

Selfishness is the enemy of the home, religion and the state.—Rev. Carroll E. Harding, Episcopalian, Baltimore.

The KITCHEN CABINET

THE love of praise is not the lowest motive that can move the human soul. The out-riding of man is not of so much importance after all; the gentleman is a lover of men, and seeks not to charm but only to serve them.

Meat Sauces.

There are a few common sauces, which are well known, such as tomato, white sauce and the brown sauce. A sauce, if well prepared and served, will change the character of a dish on which it is passed, and as the following are not so commonly served, they may prove acceptable.

Pickle Sauce.

Put an ounce of butter (two tablespoonfuls) in a cream, add half a teaspoonful of salt, a speck of cayenne and one tablespoonful of finely chopped sour pickles. If the pickle is not sour add a tablespoonful of vinegar. Spread the sauce over chops or fish.

Cucumber Sauce.

This is a sauce especially nice with broiled fish. Pare two cucumbers and cut lengthwise in quarters. Cut off the edge containing the seeds if they are large, then chop fine, and squeeze quite dry through a cheese cloth. Season with salt, paprika and vinegar and stir in one-half cup of thick cream, whipped.

Hollandaise Sauce.

'Cream a fourth of a cup of butter, beat the yolks of two eggs in a saucepan, add two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and one-fourth of a cup of hot water, a few grains of salt and cayenne. Place the saucepan over the fire and stir constantly until it is quite thick. Then quickly stir in the creamed butter and serve at once.

Bread Sauce.

Cook one-half cup of stale bread crumbs, a slice of onion and three cloves, in one and a half cups of milk 30 minutes. Rub through a strainer if the crumbs are large. Add two tablespoonfuls of butter, one-half teaspoonful of salt and speck of paprika. If too thick add a little more milk.

Serve with eggs and game. Garnish with one-half cup of coarse bread crumbs browned in butter.

Horse Radish Sauce.

Take three tablespoonfuls of grated horse radish, one tablespoonful of vinegar, a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne and four tablespoonfuls of heavy cream beaten stiff. Serve in a pretty glass dish.

FADS AND FASHIONS

FADS AND FASHIONS.

New York, June 9.—An inspection of the displays in the fashionable shops shows that striped materials have fully retained their early spring vogue, and many of the prettiest models shown in them, taffeta, chiffon, tulle, and the like, are striped. The stripes, giving individuality to the models without much additional trimming. Some of the striped chiffon taffetas in delicate tones are most practical and charming, and are made up into quaint little frocks of decided simplicity, with flutes of big, soft colors of muslin, net or lace, and with self-trimming.

One of the most satisfactory models of this type seen was worn at a luncheon the other day and was of the most lustrous taffeta striped in orchid lavender and sea blue. The skirt high waist line defined by three shirred cords, and the little bodice was almost entirely covered by a fichu collar of finely embroidered yellowish tulle, the draped ends of which were knotted at the bust. In the back a big, flat, pump bow of black posed at the high waist line headed a single wide sash of black velvet, rounded at the bottom. The wearer had a band of black velvet about her neck and wore an adorable little bow net of fine white tulle and a big blue tulle adorning a cluster of curious little tight silk roses in lavender, pink and blue.

Another handsome striped silk model was in blue and black tulle. This model, too, had a large collar of embroidered tulle, but it did not assume a fichu form, and was laid over a scarf or fichu drape of black chiffon which was drawn down softly to a point just above the black skirt, where it was held by an ornament, the ends of the chiffon falling free a third of the way down the skirt. In the back the ballote collar fell in a deep rounded cap.

Even in self material, a wide band breaking the skirt length is trying to a figure not slender or tall, and this objection may be urged, too, against many of the tulle effects in connection with short skirts, although where the tulle falls low or its edge is not emphasized by striking trimming this objection is not a serious one for the ordinary figure.

Those who hold that the harem skirt would find authoritative acceptance have been justified by the event. The exclusive set during the Riviera season and at the early Parisian events has given absolutely no encouragement to the much exploited skirt, and Mme. Paquin doubtless rejoices that she alone among the famous dress designers of Paris refused even to consider the culotte idea and wasted no time, energy or material in experimenting with it.

Paquin and Callot have both since been very happy in their three piece and short skirt models this spring and also in the handling of the tulle and separate train ideas in connection with evening frocks. Tulle, cleverly draped in clinging lines and sloping into little sharp single or double point trains are dear to both makers, and Paquin loves the little square train falling separate from a narrow skirt slit at the sides or in front.

Plated flounces and scant, flat lying ruffles make their appearance here and there, hinting at rebellion against the long maintained narrow lines, though even those plaits and frills are so subdued that they give absolutely no suggestion of buoyancy.

One of Callot's very popular informal frocks is of eon pongee combined with the same material in a soft dull blue. The lower part of the bodice and upper part of the skirt are of blue, while the upper part of the bodice, including the sleeves and the borders of the two deep plaited flounces which form the lower part of the skirt, are of eon silk. Buttons are sewed with the silk and an embroidered and knotted motif on the bodice front which indicates that the frock was primarily designed for a yachting costume are the only trimmings, but the frock has a distinct originality and cachet.

Flat, overlapping flounces of net bordered narrowly by band embroidery sometimes covers an entire skirt of satin, from the narrowness of which they detract scarcely at all, and a charming tulle frock is flounced in flat overlapping flounces to the waist, and another, of light green tulle, with a tulle center is similarly flounced to top the flounced skirt.

Baking Powder Biscuits

Light as a Feather

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

Baking Powder Biscuits made by this recipe are so far ahead of ordinary baking powder biscuits that, if once tried, you will never use any other recipe. Try it the next time you run short of bread. Save this recipe.

K.C. Baking Powder Biscuits

Three cups flour; 1/2 to 3/4 cup shortening; 3 level teaspoonfuls K.C. Baking Powder; about 1 cup milk or water; 1 teaspoonful salt.

Sift three times, the flour, salt and baking powder. Work into the flour the shortening, using lard or butter for shortening. Then mix to a very soft dough with the milk. The softer the biscuit enters the oven, the lighter it comes out. Never knead baking powder biscuits; press the dough into shape and roll lightly. Cut in small shapes and bake on a sheet or very shallow pan in a hot oven. In placing biscuits in the pans place well apart, not allowing edges to touch. Small biscuits are better than large ones. Large biscuits do not have the proper amount of time to rise and bake.

Have you seen the new K.C. Cook's Book? Brimful of appetizing recipes that simply must be successful. You will find the few simple directions are carefully followed. You will gladly pay 30 cents for this valuable book, yet we send it free upon receipt of the colored certificate packet in every 5-cent tin of K.C. Baking Powder. JAMES M. CO., Chicago. Biscuits do not have Cook's Book certificate.

but these are, of course, the exceptions.

Striped cottons and linens are used for many of the inexpensive morning frocks and some of the models in the cheap cotton stripes are so chic and pretty that they might well be made to do duty for any informal summer afternoon and evening purpose. The black and white stripes, regular and rather wide make up very modestly and are shown in some of the inexpensive materials, though one sees more of the white ground with the very narrow black striping. This last is being used so extensively that its undeniable charm is being overshadowed by the quantity of it seen here, there and everywhere.

Pink is one of the best summer hat colors, and beautiful hats are shown in the soft pastel tones of pink trimmed in big soft roses shading through the lavenders and purples, or in the black mousseline roses and foliage, or in ostrich plumes shading through dull pinks and smoky grays. Some attractive things are done, too, with soft pink chiffon stretched plainly over fine white straw.

Feathers are used even more than flowers in the very dressy summer hats, but flowers are sprayed upon many of the smaller shapes, quite covering the crown and giving it prodigious height.

Many of the sleeves are extremely short, a detail in keeping with other Empire ideas, and one finds the elbow sleeves of some of the smartest models taking on bell lines instead of falling straight in peasant fashion.

The three-quarter sleeve is popular and oddly enough the summer season has brought out a good many long sleeves models which all will be more or less comfortable than those with short sleeves.

Shades of fine linen, trimmed with baby Irish, antique or Valenciennes lace, are modish and add a decided touch of elegance to the plain blouse or waist.

Glass, porcelain or bone buttons may now be bought to match almost any color of dress material.

Silk marquisettes, voiles and grand laines have taken the place of chiffon to a great extent this season, and all these materials are closely copied in cotton fabrics.

BAD MENTAL CONDITIONS GENERATE POISONS.

Bad mental conditions—hatred, jealousy, fear in general—generate poisons which have the same effect as those produced by excessive muscular effort and superfluous food. Simple diet, with thorough mastication, avoidance of muscular or mental exhaustion, regular and moderate exercise, pure air, pure water, rest and moderate bathing, maintain the physical condition favorable to optimism. Body and mind constantly react upon each other. To fix the mind on a pleasant thought is the best way to shut out a disagreeable one. Agreeable companionship helps in this as do good literature and pleasing entertainment, and hence the importance of agreeableness and of a taste for good literature.

A JUNE BRIDE'S WEDDING GOWN OF LACE OVER SATIN.

Lace is an ideal material for the summer wedding gown which may, and should have, more delicacy than the sumptuous heavy satin robes worn at a winter wedding. But lace should never be worn by the bride who cannot afford the richest kind, the real lace heirloom veil, founce or scarf being considered the ideal of elegance. This beautiful wedding gown is made of old rose-point lace over with charmeuse, a separate founce of the lace extending out beneath the upper founce to form the moderate train. The veil is point d'Alencon and is draped simply yet artistically over the hair.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Strange, isn't it, that Mother couldn't tell maid from mistress.

BRITZ of HEADQUARTERS

By MARCIN BARBER
ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WATSON

"All searched her room, of course, before the detectives got there," he continued. "Soon after Mrs. Misswoner's return from the opera, he went straight from the hall outside the library to Miss Holcomb's apartment and investigated thoroughly."

"Look here, old man," jerked Kananda. "If all has the stone, it's all well enough to put it over on—"

"He hasn't it," the Swami answered. "The thing for us to do now is to find out who has it."

"Good old guesser!" grinned the Prince. "Well, all knows his business."

"The Swami strolled back to the divan and lay at full length, his hands pillowing his head. He blew smoke rings at the punkah."

"I'm not so sure of that," he retorted. "I don't like his failure to keep better watch on the stone."

Nandy swung himself back to the table.

"How long's it been gone?" he asked.

"I tell you nobody knows. Its absence was discovered to-night."

"You've just learned of it?"

"No and yes. I knew about the Maharajah before. All came," he sketched the incident of the opera house in crisp sentences. Kananda listened eagerly.

"So there's nothing left of the bogus Maharajah," he observed.

"Nothing but this splinter I palmed," returned the priest. "It was once—elementary legerdemain."

Both laughed. The facility of Occidentals was a standing joke.

"Well, we need more help on this now," said the Prince. "All will have to go back to the house."

"Yes, Mrs. Misswoner can't spare her Oriental curio just yet," the Swami assented.

Kananda reached for a cigarette.

"I guess we'll have to put Ramsetjee on the spot," he mused. "Don't like to do it, for Ram isn't exactly what we'd call an adept. Now, would we?"

"Hardly."

"But all can't be spared from the Misswoner place. Bands and Griswold can be watched by one man."

"Oh, yes," replied the priest. "I wish the man were a little brighter than Ramsetjee, though."

"Can't be helped—what?" anguished Nandy. "I'll have an eye to them in the club from time to time. You look after the social end."

"Yes," the Swami smiled. "They'll hardly get away from me in society."

"My word, but you're coming on!" chuckled the Prince. "Right in the social swim. See what it is to be a Swami. Doro says the Duchess of Drygoods and the Countess de Brovary are heard over heels in love with the newest Eastern mystic. Too bad they're not in Delhi!"

"So that's Mrs. Van Loon's where I get into the 400 on board everyone is equal and once acquainted it will be all right on land also."

"Aren't we having a lovely trip? I enjoy it thoroughly."

"Yes, it is so restful after our anxious social life. All the duties that we must give up and attend are really weary some."

"Yes, indeed, I find it so!"

"Yes, with all the teas, balls, musicales, luncheons, theatre parties and whatever more it is simply fatiguing and then the dressings day after day and selecting new jewelry is awful. Yes, this trip is heaven!"

"Mamie, you did up my coffee wretchedly this morning. You may go down now and fix up the state room, and then see that the laundry bag is ready to wear at dinner and then see that the animal steward and wait with 'Toby' for a half hour. Poor 'Toby' must be awfully lonely."

the room. "Michael Noonan," droned the lieutenant. An emaciated, weak-faced man, the wretchedness of his lot emphasized by the frayed clothing that hung in loose, broken lines from his form, stepped forward. A look of dull misery was stamped on his countenance, a hopeless disregard of the fate in store for him showed in his manner. "Take a good look at this crook," commanded the Chief. "Never was plucked before. Caught with the goods on, however, by Wiggins and Wolf. Swirlin' lead pipe from a half-finished house."

"The eyes of the detectives bent on the human wreck as he slunk back into line. "Philip Pratt," called the lieutenant.

A young man, not more than thirty, whose sullen mind and restless eyes betrayed his occupation even before the Chief announced it, faced the muzzled battery of eyes. His thin lips curled into a disdainful smile as the Chief read his record from a slip of paper.

"Another old friend back," the head of the detective force commented. "Philip Pratt, alias Morse, alias Charlie Dodge, alias Toledo Phil. Confidence gent. Did a term in Elmira, two short stretches up the river, and a long leg in Joliet."

The particular offense for which the prisoner was in the toils again was again described, and he, too, retired to temporary obscurity in the lines of unfortunates.

"Carrie Chase," came from the lieutenant. Member of that frail sisterhood whose shame is no deeper than that of the civilization from which it springs, she carried herself with an easy dignity born of familiarity with her surroundings. The heavy lines of her face were drawn into an expression of grim defiance, but her eyes, dulled by long dissipation, could not hide the dumb fear that lurked in her soul.

"Got away with a gent's super," the Chief drawled. He displayed a gold watch as if it held all the triumph of his years of pursuit in the underworld. "But we found the goods on her," he added smilingly.

Her career was part of the elemental knowledge of the assembled detectives and the Chief dismissed her quickly.

"The chances are she'll do a long stretch this trip," he commented. Every condition of moral obliquity was represented in that shifting line of prisoners. There were youths, still in the formative period of their criminal careers, vying with the old-timers in the forced bravado of their demeanors. Others there were, shame-faced and sad, overcome with remorse and praying silently for the termination of the painful spectacle. Still others, old men and young men, regarding the proceedings with the indifference of disinterested spectators. And there were women, too, from the bedridden "badger queen," her hair and complexion as pale as the jewels shimmering from her fingers and throat, to the tremulous, weeping restaurant cashier accused of some petty defalcation. They represented types as varied as the emotions struggling within them, but as they stood side by side facing the expressionless masks, they seemed headed toward the same ultimate destiny. One after another they stepped forward for inspection until the line was exhausted. When the last of them had filed out of the room, the detectives did not remove their masks, as was the custom. Instead, they stood about in a high fever of expectancy. Quizzical glances were cast in the direction of the door leading to the cells. Suddenly the men bulked forward, as if inspired by a common impulse of curiosity. The sweep of skirts, accompanied by the tread of masculine feet, sounded in the doorway. A woman's form, her head bent to her breast, her limbs unable to bear the weight of her frail body, was being half dragged, half carried into the room. All the life seemed to have drained out of her. Her hair hung disordered over her shoulders, her hands swung limply, like loose pendulums.

"Kilmer Holcomb!" cried the lieutenant. Donnelly and Carson, each with an arm under her shoulder, propped her sinking form. "Lift your head," commanded the Chief.

The order fell on deaf ears. She seemed as one in the last agony of a mortal illness. (To Be Continued.)

(10.) What are the chief points contained in this circular letter of Hezekiah to the kingdom of Israel?

(16.) Why was ceremonial cleansing of so much importance in those days, and of no importance in these days?

(17.) What is the only essential thing which makes worship well pleasing to God?

(18.) Is it ever so in these days as in those, that the prayer of one man is efficacious for a multitude?

(19.) Verses 21-22—What would be the probable effect if the churches were now to have annual gatherings at central points, to last for seven or more days, after the type of the old time camp meeting?

(20.) Why should it be thought out of order in these days to have banquets, or dinners, or teas in connection with intense spiritual meetings?

(21.) This religious feast appears to have been a time of great outward demonstration and inward joy; why should we not plan for such meetings in all our churches? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Wisconsin Music Company

AT LESS THAN HALF THE COST OF MANUFACTURE
THE SAVING IS YOURS, PROFIT BY IT

40c On the Dollar

The receivers had to have the money. They could sell for cash only. Very few concerns could bid on this basis, consequently we had the advantage for we made it a SPOT CASH DEAL. These splendid instruments we secured at practically our own figures—40c on the dollar. They were cheap at 100c, for the Clough & Warren Co. were making their product Too Good for the money and that is why they were forced to suspend.

We therefore in turn sell to you far below the actual cost of manufacture. Just think of Buying Such Pianos, delivered in your home, for less than it cost to make them. THIS IS INDEED THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME

Every Piano Fully Warranted

Pianos made by Clough & Warren Co., would need no other warranty. But we know the high quality of these pianos and we cheerfully guarantee them just as we do our own lines. Every one is enthusiastic over them and we say without reservation no such values as these have ever been offered before. Seldom has such a deal been made, never has the purchaser been given the full benefit of the saving as we offer it to you.

To prove our confidence in these magnificent pianos we will allow any purchaser of a Clough & Warren piano from us to exchange toward any one of our regular lines at the expiration of six months if not completely satisfied.

They are all fully warranted against any defect for ten years. You take no chance in buying such a piano. They have been made and sold for more than sixty years by a reputable and well known house. They are recognized by musicians as "pianos of quality" commanding high prices. Their values are standardized, uniform, proved and accepted.

This Letter Tells the Complete Story.

Gentlemen—We acknowledge purchase agreement which we are returning herewith, which, as you will note, has been executed by the duly authorized officers, and in accordance with the terms of agreement, order has been placed at our factory for the shipment of the 50c instruments and same will go forward in accordance with your directions.
